Now in its eighth edition, the Pharmacology and the lactation process continues to provide the perfect amount of pharmacology, priority and process information of lactation to today's nursing students. Focused on its unique drug key approach, this text only focuses on drug information you need to safely administer drugs. The text also continues to underline the process of breastfeeding and priority, covering the most essential evaluations, breastfeeding diagnosis, interventions and evaluations that you need to practice effectively. New to this edition is even more coverage of QSEN skills, the simplest language, and a wealth of reader-friendly functions and innovative learning tools. Along with its integrated NCLEX preparation and in-depth learning strategies, you will not find a more comprehensive pharmacology text on the market! NEW! Better legibility is assisted by a more friendly and direct language; shorter sentences; simplified language (if appropriate); and much more. A wide Photographic Atlas of the Drug Administration has more than 100 illustrations illustrating the key steps in administering drugs in various ways of drug administration. UNIQUE! QSEN focus highlights those aspects of the book — such as boxes, advice, case studies and other content — which refer to QSEN skills. The popular approach of key drug focuses on the need content for safe clinical practice and uses a simplified approach to drug indications, emphasizing only the most common or serious negative effects. The integrated preparation of NCLEX® examination includes seven NCLEX examination applications in each chapter, with at least one alternative format article per chapter. Through the application of the breastfeeding process it is addressed in each chapter to help readers learn how to priority breastfeeding assistance to focus on the most essential evaluations, care diagnosis, interventions and evaluation/result criteria. The diverse and consistent learning format uses a variety of tables and organization of practical body systems to help readers integrate the content of pharmacology with what they are learning in surgical and care courses for adults. Focus on priority includes diagnosis of priority nursing along with the corresponding priority of goals and results, helping readers learn how to connect diagnosis of nursing to goals and results.
